 Markus KALLIOLA
This is very worrying indeed! But also, alcoholic beverages contain high levels of calories and carbohydrates which can hamper efforts to promote good nutrition and reduce obesity in Europe. It is therefore vital that consumers are informed on the ingredients used in the production of beer, wine and spirits.

Hello members!

I have noticed a growing interest in issues related to children and youth health. Would you like to open a new network to speak more specifically about it?

Everyone would be welcome!
